THE TREASURY.

Its Present Condition, as Detailed by Secretary Sherman, with Comments and Explanations.

Washington, October 31.—Secretary to the condition of the treasury:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF SECRETARY, |
WASHINGTON, October 31, 1878. |

To J. LeRoy H. Dodd Buchanan, Michigan:
Sir.—I am in receipt of your letter of the twentyninth instant, making certain inquiries as to the condition of the treasury for resumption, and the amount of paper circulation per capita in this country and the principal countries of Europe. In reply,
I have the honor to inform you that on the first ins ant the coin balance of the treasury was $232, 659,646. This entire amount however was not available for the resumption proposed, but subject to liabilities as follows: Interest due and unpaid, $9,345,259; debt on which interest has ceased,
$12,524,690; interest thereon, $373,585; coin certificates, gold, $32,826,600; coin certificates, silver, $1,848,072; unclaimed interest, 9547; immatured bonds called for resumption, $41,500,000; total, $98,427,781; leaving for resumption purposes, $134,231,865. The coin receipts into treasury will probably exceed by considerable the amount of coin payments between now and January, 1879, so that at least the above balance will then be available for resumption purposes. It should also be borne in mind meanwhile that there is no implies the right of the Japanese to demand deportation in specified cases, but makes no provision for consular action. There is much confusion in consequence of the case of Thomas Glass, a notorious offender, whose expulsion was urged by the United States consular general, and required by the Jaranese local authorities in Yokohoma. A strict legal authority was apparently acceded to on both sides in dealing with Glass, although the good intention and evident necessity of explicit or ders from Washington was generally recognized as necessary to meet future similar cases. A painful impression has been produced by the report that the soldiers concerned in the recent meeting at Tokio are tortured to compel the confession of crime and the exposure of accomplices. The details are not yet publicly known, but it is greatly feared that the government has not rescinded the decree against the torture. There are reports among the foreigners of impending changes in the ministry, but they are believed to be groundless. Notwithstanding the heavy floods the harvest prospects are bountiful.

COOLIE CONTRACTS

Lead to a Little Unpleasantness Be tween the Cuban Authorities and the British Consul at Hayana.

Havana, October 31.—The report of the selling of the Coolies brouget by Dr. Seecht from Trinidad is confirmed, with the additional fact that Seechi had engaged to bring from Trinidad and Demarara ten thousand Coolies a year, they being contracted for five years at one shilling a day, and that of forty Coolies whom Seechi had already brought he had sold three at Santiago de Cuba for two hundred dollars each. The trand in the contracts, which were made out in English and Spanish. consisted in the English not being a translation of the Spanish which gave Seechi full power of transfer, while the former did not mention this condition. Some of the contracts were for one rear and were signed by Coolies who could rearthe remainder for five years, signed with their marks by those who could not read or did not understand contracts. The British consult therefore selzed the contracts. The British consult therefore selzed the contracts and after considerable trouble and resistance on the part of Seechi who brought civil action against the Coolies and criminal sections. The audacity of the whole scheme will be appreciated, for it is a well known fact that these Coolies were without exception British subjects.

BANK FAILURE.

Joseph A. Hemann & Co., Cincinnati Bankers, Reported Closed, and the Bank's Property Attached for $1140.

Cincinnati. October 31—The banking house of Joseph A. Hemann & Co. closed its doors this evening. All demands upon the bank were paid over the counter up to three o'clock p. m., but accounts in the clearing-house not being adjusted at five o'c ock, a deputy from the sheriff's office served an attachment upon them, issued at the instance of John Berger, for $1140. He attached the fixtures of the bank, and also the household furniture of Mr. Hemann. It is stated that Bishop Purcell and his brother are not depositors, and have not been for several months. The report that the Volks Freund newspaper is in any way concerned, is untrue, as that concern loses nothing. Mr. Hemann has had no interest in that paper in fifteen years. The bank has been paying six per cent, interes; on current deposits, and has experienced some heavy losses. Last May their deposits amounted to three hundred and fifty-two thousand doltars. There was a run on them at that time, but the bank survived it. There has been a steady drain lately, and suspension was inevitable. The firm decline making a statement of their assets and liabilities, but the latter are very heavy, and are variously stated at from CINCINNATI. PITKIN,

Once United States Marshal of Lousiana Now Convalescing from Yellow Fever, Tells a Washington Correspondent

What he Knows and Thinks of the Pre sent Political Crisis at the South-The War Issues are Abandoned for Money and Trade.

The Washington correspondent of th New York Herald telegraphs that paper on the twenty sixth instant, as follows: Ex-Marshal Pitkin, a native of Louisiana, who during the past fortnight has been regaining here the physical strength lost during a re-cent severe yellow-fever attack at New Orleans, was visited by your correspondent to day with the following result: " Marshal; I see you are not in the northern can ass; do you make any speeches before your re turn?"
"No; I had stipulated to speak at the west early last month but my illness prevented. I have received invitations from the National Republican committee and elsewhere, but have been constrained to decline while thus enfeebled."
"Will you elect any Republican congressman in Louisiana?"

"Will you elect any Republican congressman in Louisiana?"

"Not one. I suspect that some of the federal appointees signified up here that they had a congressional district here and there in their pocket, but not one can be delivered. I apprehend. The Republicans, indeed, are not now at work as an organization, but may to some exient reinforce the Nationals, who have nominees in the first three congressional districts. 4 am a member of the Republican state central committee, and never before knew such lokewarmness in the tanks as is now manifest."

"Do you ascribe this result to Mr. Hayes's polley?"

"Do you ascribe this result to Mr. Hayes's policy?"

"The Republican party of the north is responsible. By its reconstruction plan it propped the southern States with a military crutch, and when the President knocked it from under Louistana this same party had for three years been denouncing the proping through its leading prints and the lips of a very considerable element. Grant's attorney-general, Pierrepont, wrote Ames, of Mississippi, in 1875: The public are tired out with these annual autumnal ow breaks." Ames went down as the Republicans of Arkansas had toppied the year before. Grant found himself antagooized by strong Republicans in congress and by the more cracular journals of the party, and so the federal soldierly were pulled back north ward by the coat-tail, company by company, regiment, until a meagre force was left at remote points only. Grant's last official dispatch southward from the White House was an admission to Angur that public sentiment wou'd no longer sanction the maintenance of southern State governments by federal soldierly. He complained to me, and doubtless to others, nearly two years before, that this sentiment afforded him so little support, outside of village papers, in what he conceived he ought to do with reference to the south."

"Then do you think that President Hayes' policy fairly consists with that old Republican sentiment?" THE NEGRO NEGLECTED.

"The Republican party obviously thinks so as a ranchised him into a target has abondoned him oven white screaming outlages, and with every provocation under Democratic criticisms in this year's campaigns it attempts no vindication or deence of its dealings with the south and forgets its maintained at the south?"

"Hardly. So far as my State is concerned, Packard, had he continued governor, would have been the last distinctively Republican magistrate. There is no doubt of that. There are men and men. The Republican ranks had many men whose corruption was a lodged cancer no less fatal than the assault by the buildozer. Packard could not have arrested it. They fell in disesteem among themselves. Naturally the Democracy spw and shared that feeling against them, unmindful of its own infirmities. Democrats were often culpable as well as Republicans. I suppose, however, that nearly every State legislature has an auction block in it. The brainpan will always beat the muscle in the struggle; the dominant mind in Louisiana was naturally won. This, however, is not to be deplored if the two races shall unite in a wholesome, industrial partnership. I was loath after my expenditure of effort in 1876 to see Packard constrained to retire, but I have ceased to deplore it; the substantial result had to come soon at best, even if by a different method.

man letter was not genuine, I was anxious to appear before the committee, and it was nothing else but a desire to shield Spher, on account of his connection with my family, that led ms to withhold it up to the present time. There has been no inducement held out for me to offer any explanation. I see it is being asserted that I was pafil large sums for my evidence. I have never received any money from the committee or the Democratic manager, and never made any stipulation that I should be paid. There was only one thing I did ask when testifying before the committee, and that was that if I lost my place on the North American, at Philadelphia, through the position I had taken, some office should be found for me, so that I should not be left allogether without means of support. The committee very readily made the pledge and the way they kept it was by offering me a place as proof-reader on the Washington Post, with long hours and a small salary. Several weeks after I had lost my position on the North American I received a meassage through my sister from Sypher means of knowing whether Sypher told the truth about this arrangement, but I do know that he soon after received two thousand five hundred dollars from W. H. Barnum, chairman of the Democratic National committee. Sypher said it was a part of his fee, but I have some doubt about that. I think it very probable that that was the money intended for me, but I want it understood that my feeling against sypher is not in regard to any division of money, but because he acted unfairly toward me from the very beginning, and used me for the purpose of getting a big fee from the committee. The services he rendered were certainly not worth more than five hundred dollars, but he managed to obtain at least three thousand five hundred dollars, and probably even a larger sum."

The entertsinment at Calvary church last evening, given by the ladies of Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper's bible class, was very successful, the pariors of the church being crowded. The musical portion of programme was well rendered by Messrs. Neumann, Howland, Rogers and Ross, and Mrs. Blake Alverson, The second part consisted of the charming cantata, Mother Goose. Between the first and second parts refreshments were handed round by the young ladies of the class, who were becomingly arrayed in white aprons and caps. During the evening Mrs. Cooper, the teacher, of the class, who has been a resident of Memphis, made a very affecting speech including many reminiscences of the late war, and referring to the many lasting friendships formed in that time of trial. Thirty of her friends had tallen by the present scourge at the time she had received her last correspondence from that city, and it is probable others have been now added to the list. It is affliction that tests friendship, and in this hour of distress it would be poor christianity to say "God plty them," and not care for sufferers ourselves. Mrs. Cooper then spoke of the ties of a common humanity, and described true friendship as "fidelity in suffering, constancy in mistortune, loyalty in adversity, strength in defeat, support in trial, and championship in conflict." The address was attentively listened to. The net proceeds of the entertainment, we are told, were upwards of three hundred and fifty dollars, which amount will be forwarded at once to Rev. Dr. Boggs, of Memphis, who has been an unitring worker among the sick and suffering of that city.

The Iselin & Co. Glove Assessment cisco Bulletin of recent date:

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 1.—There Washington, D. C., November 1.—There was a preliminary hearing of the New York parties interested in the kid-glove assessment this morning at the treasury department. Mr. Clarke, representing Iselin & Co., agreed that the facts were sufficient to justify the secretary of the treasury in remitting the entire matter to appraisers on the ground that there had been no valid appraisement, and that there had been no valid appraisement, and that there had certainly been irregularity in the proceedings. Judge French old not understand the secretary of the treasury as advancing any course affecting the valuation, but merely to examine the law points involved. General-Appraiser Ketchum asked how the appraisement could be reopened, as the gloves had gone into consumption. Mr. Clarke replied that the custom officers have samples. Judge French said he would notify the parties interested when he would come to a decision on the legal question involved, and the conference came to a close.
